Sticker, Net, and Out-of-Pocket Prices

AUGUST 2010

FIGURE 1.

THE PRICE OF AN UNDERGRADUATE EDUCATION for full-time undergraduates, by type of institution attended: 2007–08

NOTE: The “sticker price” is the total price of attendance which includes tuition, books and supplies, housing, meals, transportation, and other miscellaneous, or personal, expenses. The “net price” is the price that must be paid after receiving grants. The “out-of-pocket net price” subtracts from the sticker price all forms of financial aid, including grants, student loans, Parent PLUS loans, work-study, employer aid, job training benefits, veterans benefits, and any other financial aid received. Both the net price after grants and the out-of-pocket net price are calculated for all full-time students, regardless of whether or not they received any financial aid. “Full-time” is defined as having been enrolled in one postsecondary institution for 9 months or more full time. “For-profit” includes less-than-2-year, 2-year, and 4-year institutions. Estimates include students enrolled in Title IV eligible postsecondary institutions in the 50 states, District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico. Standard error tables are available at <http://nces.ed.gov/das/library/reports.asp>.

TUITION AND NONTUITION EXPENSES for full-time undergraduates, by type of institution attended: 2007–08

NOTE: "Full-time" is defined as having been enrolled in one postsecondary institution for 9 months or more full time. "Tuition" includes all tuition and fees. "Nontuition expenses" include books, supplies, housing, meals, transportation, and miscellaneous or personal expenses. "For-profit" includes less-than-2-year, 2-year, and 4-year institutions. Estimates include students enrolled in Title IV eligible postsecondary institutions in the 50 states, District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico. SOURCES OF GRANT AID for full-time undergraduates, by type of institution attended: 2007–08

NOTE: "Grants" include scholarships and tuition waivers. "Full-time" is defined as having been enrolled in one postsecondary institution for 9 months or more full time. "For-profit" includes less-than-2-year, 2-year, and 4-year institutions. Estimates include students enrolled in Title IV eligible postsecondary institutions in the 50 states, District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico. Standard error tables are available at <http://nces.ed.gov/das/library/reports.asp>.

TYPE OF AID PACKAGE for full-time undergraduates, by aid package received and type of institution attended: 2007–08

NOTE: "Grants" include scholarships and tuition waivers. "Loans" include federal, state, institutional, or private student loans, excluding Parent PLUS loans. "Other" aid includes job training, veterans benefits, employer aid, and Parent PLUS loans. "Full-time" is defined as having been enrolled in one postsecondary institution for 9 months or more full time. "For-profit" includes less-than-2-year, 2-year, and 4-year institutions. Estimates include students enrolled in Title IV eligible postsecondary institutions in the 50 states, District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico. Detail may not sum to totals because of rounding. FIGURE 5.

NET PRICE AFTER GRANTS BY INCOME for full-time dependent undergraduates, by family income category and type of institution attended: 2007–08

NOTE: The “net price after grants” is the price of attending a postsecondary institution after all grants have been received. This amount is calculated by subtracting total grant aid from the sticker price. The sticker price is the total price of attendance and includes tuition, books and supplies, housing, meals, transportation, and other miscellaneous, or personal, expenses. Grant aid includes grants, scholarships, tuition waivers, and other gift aid that does not need to be repaid. The net price after grants is calculated for all students, regardless of whether or not they received any grant aid. Family income categories were based upon parents’ annual income in 2006. Dollar cutoffs are based on the distribution among all dependent undergraduates: “Low-income” was the lowest 25th percentile (less than $36,100); “Low middle-income” was the 26th to 50th percentile ($36,100–$66,600); “High middle-income” was the 51st to 75th percentile ($66,600–$104,600); and “High-income” was the highest 25th percentile ($104,600 or more). “Full-time” is defined as having been enrolled in one postsecondary institution for 9 months or more full time. “For-profit” includes less-than-2-year, 2-year, and 4-year institutions. Estimates include students enrolled in Title IV eligible postsecondary institutions in the 50 states, District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico. Standard error tables are available at <http://nces.ed.gov/das/library/reports.asp>.

OUT-OF-POCKET NET PRICE BY INCOME for full-time dependent undergraduates, by family income: 2007–08

NOTE: The “out-of-pocket net price” is the price of attending a postsecondary institution after all aid has been received. This amount is calculated by subtracting total financial aid from the sticker price. The sticker price is the total price of attendance and includes tuition, books and supplies, housing, meals, transportation, and other miscellaneous, or personal, expenses. Financial aid includes grants, student loans, Parent PLUS loans, work-study, employer aid, job training benefits, veterans benefits, and any other type of aid. The out-of-pocket net price is calculated for all students, regardless of whether or not they received any aid. Family income categories were based upon parents’ annual income in 2006. Dollar cutoffs are based on the distribution among all dependent undergraduates: “Low-income” was the lowest 25th percentile (less than $36,100); “Low middle-income” was the 26th to 50th percentile ($36,100–$66,600); “High middle-income” was the 51st to 75th percentile ($66,600–$104,600); and “High-income” was the highest 25th percentile ($104,600 or more). “Full-time” is defined as having been enrolled in one postsecondary institution for 9 months or more full time. “For-profit” includes less-than-2-year, 2-year, and 4-year institutions.
